

AT EARLY DATE FALL OF PORT NOW EXPECTED

Garrison Thought to be on Its Last Legs.

Shortage of Rations and Ammunition
According to Japs—Stossel in Hospital Wounded.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—(Bulletin)—Gen. Stossel and Admiral Wren have advised the Czar of conditions at Port Arthur through the medium of the destroyer Rastoropy. The importance of the information is apparent from the fact that a destroyer was sacrificed to get the communication from the beleaguered garrison.

A dispatch from Chefoo this afternoon says it is reported the entire Russian fleet at Port Arthur escaped with the destroyer. This is not confirmed.

Another Chefoo message this afternoon says the Rastoropy had been blown up to prevent the Japs from entering the harbor and seizing her. This is not confirmed either.

The destroyer pursued into Chefoo harbor by the Japs will remain there until the war ends. The commander says that the important positions around the Port are in possession of the Russians, but the troops are depressed.

London, Nov. 16.—The Japanese are pressing the fighting for the possession of Port Arthur, assaults being made almost continuously upon the eastern line of defenses. Reports from Japanese sources intimate that the ammunition and supplies of the garrison are running short. It is asserted that General Stossel, the Russian commander at Port Arthur, has been disabled by wounds. There was some sharp fighting the night of Nov. 10 for the possession of the fortified village of Endowunulu, near Shikhe, the Russians being first driven out, then retaking the place, and finally retiring.

A dispatch from a correspondent with the Japanese besieging forces at Port Arthur reads:

It is reported in camp that a wound received by General Stossel has necessitated his confinement in a hospital; that he refused to relinquish the command of the garrison, and that he has issued orders to the troops to die at their posts rather than surrender. It is said the spirit of the Russian troops has been dampened by continuous work, the lack of supplies, and the hopelessness of their ability to make any successful defense of the fortress. It is said further that many of the Russian soldiers are ready to surrender, but that they are kept at their posts by officers, who threaten them with revolvers, and that several soldiers who were suspected of a desire to desert have been shot as a warning to others. The Japanese now believe that the garrison has almost reached the limit of human endurance.

Spies and Russians who have surrendered report that rations in the fortress have been reduced. The wounded found by the Japanese are emaciated. Russian artillery shells are made partly of wood and do not explode. This shows that the Russians are short of material for making heavy ammunition. The capture of the eastern fortified ridge will mean the surrender of the fortress in a couple of weeks unless the garrison retreats to the isolated forts. This seems improbable, however, and cold weather and the lack of food and ammunition renders desperate resistance unlikely.

Heavy Japanese Casualties.

London, Nov. 16.—The Daily Telegraph's Chefoo correspondent gives rumors of renewed Japanese attacks on Port Arthur with 15,000 troops between Nov. 2 and Nov. 6, with 12,000 casualties. The Daily Telegraph, however, does not credit these rumors, because of evidence that the dispatches above summarized were filed Nov. 6 or later. Nov. 6 still remains the latest date of reliable news from Port Arthur. The correspondent at Tokyo of the Times says that all accounts from Port Arthur concur in attributing the merit for the stubborn defense which is still being maintained there to General Fock, who commands the Russian fleet.

Russian Destroyer at Chefoo.

Chefoo, Nov. 16.—A Russian torpedo boat destroyer has just entered the harbor. She has not been communicated with yet, owing to the roughness of the sea. It is reported that a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer has been outside watching the movements of the Russian vessel.

Bloodstains on Clothing.

Auburn, Cal., Nov. 16.—A careful examination of the remnants of the clothing thrown by young Adolph Weber into the window of his burning house on the evening of the murder of his father, mother, brother and sister, has, it is said, developed the fact that there are bloodstains on the trousers worn by him at time of the tragedy.

FAREWELL

To Commander Booth Tucker of the Salvation Army Tendered by a Big Crowd.

New York, Nov. 16.—A farewell reception to Commander Booth-Tucker of the Salvation Army was tendered here at the Grand Central palace by the officers and privates of the army. The great hall was crowded. In an address Commander Booth-Tucker said in part: "The eight and a half happy years which I have spent in the United States have not spoiled me. I came well saved and I leave better saved. When I came here $20,000 was annually sent to America. Now $900,000 is annually spent in America by the army, this money having been raised not from the millionaires, although the wealthy have contributed one-ninth of the amount, while the other eight-ninths have been raised by the people. This marks a new era in the history of philanthropy."

WATER WORKS

REASON WHY LEGAL NOTICE OF BOND SALE WAS DEFERRED.

Article Published in Another Paper on Tuesday Evening Was Misleading.
Here Are the Facts.

The article printed by another paper that the legal notice for the sale of water works bonds now being advertised, was in direct opposition to the report of the special committee appointed to investigate the condition of the present water works plant was misleading in every respect.

The fact is that conditions continued to arise or the legal notice for the bond sale would have been published before this date. After the last ordinance was passed May 16, 1904, ordering that the water works bonds be sold by the City Auditor, the provisions of the ordinance have been carried out according to law. The bonds amounting to $390,000 were first offered to the trustees of the sinking fund at their meeting held July 5, and the matter of accepting the bonds was postponed until the next regular meeting. At that meeting, held August 16, no action was taken by the trustees, pending further investigation as to whether the trustees could lawfully take the bonds without a reserve fund equal to the bond issue. On September 6 the trustees at their meeting refused to take any or all of said bonds. At the next regular meeting on September 12, the City Auditor reported that the Sinking Fund Trustees had refused to take the water works bonds. At the same meeting a resolution was adopted that the president appoint a committee to investigate the condition of the present water works plant.

At a special meeting of council held September 26, President of Council Harry Rossel appointed William E. Miller, Rees R. Jones and Joseph R. Moser as the special committee to investigate the present water works plant, and the report of the committee was printed in Tuesday's paper.

The committee appointed had requested that the notice of the bond sale be deferred until the present plant could be investigated and a report made to council and the request was complied with, so that the notice now being published is in no way a surprise or in opposition to the committee appointed to investigate the present plant.

There was another reason urged for delay in offering the bonds for sale. Prior to a presidential election the bond market is usually low and it was argued that to defer the sale until after the election would mean an increased premium for the bonds.

A short time ago Chile solemnly opened a permanent industrial exposition. The president presided, surrounded by the leading people of Chile and the entire foreign diplomatic corps. The day is referred to as one marking a new era in the development of the country.

UNITED STATES IS ADVISED OF A CONSPIRACY

Against Government of Panama.

President of Isthmian Republic Frustrates Efforts of Plotters—The Attempt May be Repeated.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Advises have reached here concerning the reports from Panama of a conspiracy there directed against the present government. While the details are not available, it is understood here that this conspiracy was directed against President Amador and was conceived by persons who control the remainder of the $10,000,000 fund paid by the United States to Panama in consideration for the right of way across the isthmus. It is further learned that the movement was a failure, President Amador having been warned in advance, but it is feared that the same elements will repeat the effort.

BUCKEYEDOM

RECEIVER IS APPOINTED FOR A TRACTION LINE.

Cash in State Treasury—After Herrick—Capt. Bell Dead—Miner
Crushed.

Wapakoneta, O., Nov. 16.—E. S. Nichols was appointed receiver for the Sandusky and Southwestern Electric Railroad company. The petition for receivership states that the railroad is indebted to its creditors in large amounts and is unable to pay them. The company was capitalized at $1,000,000 in 1902, and purposes to build an electric railroad from Wapakoneta to Kenton and from Lima to Bellefontaine. Several hundred thousand dollars have already been spent in purchasing rights of way.

A petition containing many sensational statements was filed by Lyman N. Means, treasurer and one of the directors of the company, alleging that the company is indebted to him in large amounts on various notes; that the assets have been squandered and that the company is insolvent.

Cash in State Treasury.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—The state of Ohio's fiscal year closed with the sum of $2,342,585.35 on hand. This is the amount of cash in the state treasury. The cash balance Nov. 15, 1903, was $2,946,615.27. The decrease is $603,929.92. Auditor of State Walter D. Guilbert stated the difference was accounted for in the main by the fact that last year the state still received the revenue from the state levy, and also from excise taxes, which were levied to take the place of the state's levy on real and personal property. The amount of cash in the state treasury will be largely increased soon by the receipt of the taxes on the earnings of semi-public corporations.

NAN PATTERSON NOW ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Big Crowd Tried to Get Into Court Room.

The Defendant Pale and Nervous, Yet
Confident That the Jury Will Acquit Her.

New York, Nov. 16.—Pale and nervous, but seemingly confident of an acquittal, Nan Patterson, known on the stage as Nan Randolph, came to her trial today charged with the murder of Frank, "Caesar" Young, a book-maker, in a cab last June on West Broadway. Flanked on either side by an imposing array of counsel, the young actress took a keen interest in the selection of a jury. Outside a squad of 46 patrolmen reinforced the court officers to keep away the curious.

Miss Patterson was gowned in deep black and she wore a black picture hat from which waved a huge black ostrich feather. A heavy veil screened her partly from the gaze of the curious throng.

The defendant had hardly been seated when the court took up the work of selecting a jury. Henry White, a writer, was the first talesman. When asked if he had and conscientious scruples against capital punishment, Miss Patterson was seen to tremble visibly.

Elwood Hendrick, a broker and Harry L. Johnson, a merchant, were selected as jurors when a recess was taken.

Young was shot and killed in a cab on West Broadway June 4. Nan Patterson was in the cab with him. Young was on his way to the pier to take a steamer for Europe with his wife. A revolver with one chamber empty was found in Young's pocket. Young was worth a half million dollars.

Districts in West Virginia.
Many Idle.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 16.—The miners of the Cabin creek district, one of the largest coal-producing districts of the state, went out on a strike. Large numbers of union men are leaving the fields and operators are endeavoring to fill their places. About 20 operators are affected. No violence has occurred, but bitter feeling exists, which may culminate in an outbreak. Scores of peace officers are being sworn in to guard property.

The whole school at about 8 p. m., under command of General Travassos, marched upon the town, but were met by a detachment of soldiers and military police. A serious encounter followed, during which General Travassos was wounded and his horse shot under him. His adjutant was killed. The cadets then fell back and occupied the hills in the neighborhood of the school building. At 2 a. m. the soldiers and police, supported by the war vessels, attacked the cadets' position, and at 5 a. m. the cadets, being without a leader, surrendered. They were all placed in prison. Frehr and his aged wife were both murdered on the night of Nov. 20, 1903, at their home in Buffalo. Their bodies were found buried in the woodshed, and bore marks of violence of the most savage kind.

Some men refuse to wear glasses because they are blind to their own interests.

The schooner Charles, from Rockport, beat up to White Head light in company with the Stetson and endeavored to reach Seal harbor, but struck a rock at the entrance. She anchored later in the harbor and was afterward blown on the flats. She will be a total loss. Word was received that the schooner Mary Hall had been blown ashore at Birch island. Teaching the Smart Young Man a Lesson

"ABSENT yesterday," said the aged manager as he adjusted his glasses and addressed the smart young man.

"Yes, sir," replied the clerk.

"Absent from illness?"

"No, sir."

"Oh, you're honest, at any rate. Most men would say they were."

"I haven't been absent from illness for nearly a year."

"You haven't?" The old man looked surprised.

"No, sir. It has been with me all the time."

"What has?"

"Illness of some sort."

"But you said that yesterday."

"Yesterday I was absent on account of illness, sir."

The old man thought the matter over for a minute or two, and then he said: "Yes, yes; I see. You're rather particular in your use of words."

"Yes, sir; study to use them correctly."

"Of course, and I'm a trifle careless. Now, please see if this sentence is correct. 'Hereafter you will be absent from my displeasure.'"

"Yes, sir."

"You will also be absent on account of my displeasure."

"Yes, sir."

"And because of my displeasure."

"Yes, sir."

"Quite right. I'm glad that I have sufficient command of language to make you understand me. The cashier will pay you your wages. Good day."

—New York Times.

Alas, Too True!

"You must pay in advance," said the lady who kept the boarding house at the great bogus lithia spring.

"But," replied the tottering invalid who had just arrived, "can't you let my trunk be security until tomorrow? I expect a check then."

"No. Pay now, or you can't stay here tonight. I want you to understand that I'm not in this business for my health."

"Oh, say, but we did everlastingly do them up."—New York Herald.

"WOLF MAN'S" PET.

Stranger on Friendly Terms With Caged Beast in a Zoo.

After an absence of several weeks the "wolf man" again visited his pets in the wolf dens of the New York Zoological park the other afternoon, and the spectators viewed with amazement the evident delight of the largest of the gray creatures, which long ago acquired almost a speaking acquaintance with this strange man, who visited his pets in Bronx park several times a week during the summer, says the New York Herald.

"It seems strange to see a wolf allow itself to be petted and to become so friendly. It is the first case of the kind that I have noticed since I have been in the park," said a keeper. "Even the men who are daily around these animals have not been able to accomplish that much."

Coming to the dens through a crowd of men and women who were gathered around the cages, the man, who is known by no other name in the park than the "wolf man," had scarcely reached the side of the iron fence surrounding the coral before the largest of the collection, which is known as his special pet, rushed down to the corner and showed in various ways its recognition of its friend.

To the amazement of the onlookers the visitor then took from his pocket a choice piece of meat, which the wolf gently ate from his hand. It was very evident to all who watched the actions of the wolf that the animal plainly recognized the man, for previous to the latter's coming no inducement could bring it to the front of the den.

Zola's Home For a Monument.

A suggestion has been made for the purchase of the house in which Emile Zola was born and its transformation into a public monument to his memory, says the London Globe.

The house is situated at Medan and is the goal of an annual pilgrimage of the admirers of the great writer, but it is in imminent danger of being sold to a private purchaser, who in all probability will make considerable alterations in its appearance. M. Alfred Bruneau, however, is making a great effort for the preservation of the place and calls on all good republicans to subscribe their mite to the sum necessary for its purchase. He points out that the habitation of Gambetta has been saved from spoliation, and as Zola did as much for France by his writings as Gambetta did by his oratory a similar honor should be accorded to the founder of the League of the Rights of Man.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, and overcomes the unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.

OBITUARY

CHAS. LUGENBEAL'S SON.

William Lugenebeal, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lugenebeal, died at his parents' home, 65 Riley street Tuesday evening, and was buried in Mt. Calvary cemetery at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

LAURENCE PRIOR.

Laurence McCarthy Prior died suddenly Wednesday morning at his late home No. 111 South First street, after a brief illness of heart failure, lasting only five minutes, and passed to his eternal reward.

The venerable gentleman was born in the parish of Ballygarvin, County Cork, Ireland, May 20, 1827, adjoining the parish of Ballyheath, where his father had owned the right to one of the best tracts of land in the county of Cork. Mr. Prior married Miss Mary Dally of the parish of Ballymartle. The parishes of Ballygarvin and Ballyheath are adjoining districts. Mr. and Mrs. Prior left Ireland in September, 1852, for their future home in Ohio. Four months they were on a voyage on the ships of the older time from Queens-town to Cleveland, and landed in the latter city. As there were no railroads in the early days or other transportation to Newark, they took the canal boat from Cleveland to Newark where they made their home. They lived a while on West Main street on the old Hess property after which they moved to the place where the Scheider Machine Works are now located, on South First street, at which place his respected wife died November 17, 1871, and where he lived 23 years. Mr. Prior has lived in the immediate locality for 50 years. He was one of the hardest workingmen and most industrious citizens for the past five decades that ever lived in Newark. He was a faithful and a conscientious member of the St. Francis de Sales church since its early existence, and died after receiving the rites of the church. Mr. Prior was aged 82 years last May and was the son of Laurence Prior, who lived to the age of 96 years. He is survived by three sons, Thomas J. Prior, executive solicitor of this city, John A. Prior and Laurence Prior of Zanesville, and the Misses Mary and Johanna Prior of this city, and Miss Julia Prior of Colorado Springs, Colo. Misses Nellie and Mamie Prior, and Laurence Prior, of Newark, children of the late David Prior, are grandchildren of the deceased.

The funeral will take place at nine o'clock Friday morning at St. Francis de Sales church. Rev. B. M. O'Boylan will celebrate holy requiem high mass in behalf of the deceased after which the remains will be laid by the side of his wife, Mary Prior, in Mt. Calvary cemetery. Thus one of the best and oldest citizens has gone to meet his Maker.

MISS MARY CONNER.

Mrs. Mary Scott and daughter, Miss Kate Scott, of East street, were called to Wheeling, W. Va. by the death of Miss Mary Conner, who died in Pittsburg after a brief illness of pneumonia. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Wheeling.

HENRY TAEFF.

Mr. Henry Taeff died at his home in Steubenville on Monday night after an illness of some time. The deceased was the father of Stewart Taeff of this city and was also a brother of George Taeff, and an uncle of Mrs. C. F. Dear of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Dear left for Steubenville Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral. The venerable father of the deceased, who is an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, passed through the city on Tuesday night en route to Steubenville to attend the funeral.

The Spaniards met with the potato in Peru, where it had long been cultivated by the natives, but it was well known a hundred years before it was taken over to Europe. In 1587 we hear of its being introduced into Spain, while in the previous year Sir Walter Raleigh began to cultivate it in Ireland from seed which was taken over from North Carolina.

His Explanation.

Mrs. Counterhop (with an injured air)—You told me before we were married that you were the highest-salaried clerk in the store.

Mr. Counterhop (equally injured)—So I am. I'm two inches and a half higher than any other salaried clerk in the whole establishment.—Chicago Tribune.

The death is announced at Samarkand, Turkestan, of the Mullah Mahomet Razurkoff—the oldest man in the world. There is said to have been ample proof that he was born in 1762. He had been bald for 70 years. For 50 years he had taken little nourishment, except koumiss, but he was always an inveterate smoker.

The first regularly ordained and inducted woman pastor of an English church is Miss Gertrude von Petzold, M. A. (Edinburgh), who conducted her first service on the Free Christian church, Leicester, on September 29. She is the daughter of a German army officer and is 28 years old. She has had a notable scholastic career.

Dawdling.

It was only three blocks to the restaurant. The young man was gone more than 11 minutes.

But his employer spoke to him gently.

"More fortunes have been lost by men dawdling at the table than in any other way," he said and never mentioned the subject again.—Puck

MALARIA IN THE SYSTEM

Holly Springs, Miss., March 24, 1903: While building railroads in Tennessee some twelve years ago a number of hands contracted fever and various forms of blood and skin diseases. I carried S. S. S. in my commissary and gave it to my hands with most gratifying results. I can recommend S. S. S. as the finest preparation for Malaria, chills and fever, as well as all blood and skin diseases. W. I. McGOWAN.

I suffered greatly from Boils, which would break out on different parts of my body. I saw S. S. S. advertised and after using about three bottles I was cured, and for the last three years I have had no trouble whatever. A. W. ZIEGLER, 217 Read St., Evansville, Ind.

I began using your S. S. S. probably ten years ago for Malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and cure for Malaria. Arkansas City, Ark. C. C. HEMINGWAY.

Boils, abscesses, sores, dark or yellow blotches and debility are some of the symptoms of this miserable disease. The S. S. S. counteracts and removes from the blood all impurities and builds up the entire system. It is guaranteed a purely vegetable remedy. Write for medical advice or any special information about case.

As soon as possible this organization will become affiliated with the boards of the other bodies of Men's Inner Missions in Ohio.

BURIED TALENTS.

If I but had the price, I know I'd be a howling swell. A brilliant connoisseur and show just how to do things well. To get the most enjoyment from the things of every day. You'd only need inquire of me to learn the latest way.

I'm quick upon invention, and I know a thing or two; I like a front seat, and an unobstructed view. I'm sure I could design a lot of most amusing things. Had I the inspiration that a half a million brings.

I'd have no halfway doings, and the plans I would evolve should carried out completely. I would the problem solve. Of universal happiness, an earthly paradise. I'm sure that I could do it if I only had the price.

It very seldom happens, though, that he with sense enough to make things hum is by stern fate allowed. To have the necessary funds, to simply have the price. And so the things that I can do, you see, don't cut much ice.

Getting Started Right.

In going on a journey the most important thing is to get started right. Suppose the boat leaves at 10:30. The man who comes strolling along at 10:45 is apt to miss some of the chicken lunch that the picnic party has along unless they throw a chunk back to him, and then the chances are that he will not catch it.

But there is one detail more important than being on time. The man who is hurrying down to catch the boat or the train should be extremely careful about being run over by a trolley car. There is nothing like an accident of this sort to mar a day's pleasure. Even though the man can still go, it is very awkward to play drop the handkerchief with one leg missing, and he must have considerable money if he can make an impression on a girl when he has three teeth gone. Whatever else you may do, always take a good dose of anti-railroad car accident microbe before starting out on a pleasure trip.

Greater Joy.
We hear of the joy of labor. As though it alone were blessed. Although it's fine, give me for mine The joy of taking a rest!

Doesn't Work Both Ways.
"Young man, you're late this morning. This will never do."
"But I overslept myself."
"Have you no alarm clock?"
"You told me yesterday that no man could make a success by watching the clock."

She Couldn't Be Good.
Mrs. Brute—Really, you know, I do not believe in being too good to servants.
Miss Caustique—Ah, I see that you appreciate your limitations.

To Get Cured.
Some men who cannot capture The voters in their mesh Must journey up Salt river Because they are too fresh.

Ignorance.
"I know no north nor south nor west!" shouted the orator.
"Poor man!" exclaimed the sympathetic old lady. "His early education was sadly neglected."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.
It would be easier to tolerate the man who knows it all if he did.

The most eloquent and wordy critic on earth cannot argue down gate receipts.

A real bright man always knows when a woman means no.

Love at first sight may really be called a species of second sight.

Would you naturally infer that horse sense was a little stronger brand than common sense?

Any one watching a small boy locate a jar of jam will come to the conclusion that lower animals are not the only ones that have instinct.

The wise man will not push a good thing along. He will chain it down.

To state an old truth over only a little more emphatically, no man is a hero in the eyes of his typewriter.

A bad actor may be a good man, but you don't see how.

It is a good deal harder to find money than to find the owner of it.

The man behind the slot machine thinks that pennies are just as good as any other kind of money.

Senator Foraker apparently feels that he holds the whip hand in Ohio politics, and that he is well able to maintain his own against the efforts of Senator Dick, Governor Herrick and Boss Cox of Cincinnati. He has certainly strong claims upon the gratitude of President Roosevelt for having insisted upon an instructed delegation from Ohio in his favor long before the Republican National convention met, and he is doubtless banking on them. Senator Foraker refuses to enter into engagements as to the next State ticket at this time, saying that the State convention is the proper place to settle the question. This seems to mean that he will oppose Governor Herrick for renomination. If he does there will be a strong factional fight developed which may have important effects on the future of Ohio politics.

As we anticipated, the report of the death of General Kuroki is officially denied from Tokyo. His services are therefore still at the command of Marshal Oyama, who is reported to be about ready to advance. Both the Russians and Japanese south of Mukden have been making their positions nearly as strong as those at Port Arthur, and a direct advance by either side will mean a great loss of life and a long struggle. The only way for either army to make progress would seem to be through a successful flanking movement. Whichever has the superior force will probably take the initiative in this, and it looks as if this work would fall to the Japanese. By this time winter has set in and the soldiers of both armies have been compelled to put in considerable time in preparing quarters suitable for the season.

How the Kaiser Molds Opinion.

A former editor of a German "official organ" lays bare in recently published confessions the method by which Berlin controls the publication of views in which the government is especially interested. One instance is described in detail as follows:

It was at the time of the general election. The Social Democrats had scored a success which caused the staunch and steadfast pillars of church and state to drop from the heaven of their contentment. While all the world emphasized how excellently the existing system of government had helped to bring about the triumph of the Social Democrats, the "pillars" contented themselves in public with passing the affair off with a few boiler-plate phrases. Inwardly, however, the gentlemen were terribly annoyed. At last some one hit upon the idea that somebody must be to blame for the deplorable occurrence, and a scapegoat was soon discovered. It was the Gazette. I received the customary invitation to interview the Herr Councillor, who received me very ungraciously. "I must really ask you, Mr. Editor, to hit harder at these Social Democrats. In the late election they have gained no fewer than 30 votes in our district alone. You must work the public better. Above everything, I must ask you to publish nothing that might place the government in a false light."

The Kaiser, it seems, maintains a press bureau to facilitate the labors of the official editor. The confessions continue:

The political horizon was mapped out for me in the New Imperial Correspondence, which daily fluttered gratis on to the editorial desk. Important political occurrences were therein pruned down to suit the government, and this sometimes made for my political activity. If Richter, Bebel or some other member of the Left managed to score off the government in parliament, I was only allowed to refer to their speeches in something like the following manner: "Messrs. Bebel and Richter endeavored in their usual manner to belittle the great impression made by the government speaker."

It is extremely difficult to disabuse the public mind of its first impressions on an important subject, and so the government's "loaded" editorials, correspondence and news dispatches are not easily contradicted.

City Dwellers and Country Homes.

The outer terminals of Greater New York's subway when the system is completed will be in districts comparatively rural. This is one of the reasons for making this vast improvement in communication, to speed trains through from the heart of the city to the suburbs and relieve congested districts in the city proper. The craze to get to the metropolitan cities always results in a craze to get out as quickly as possible to reach a place fit to be called home. The subway is only repeating the experience of the "L" road. The outer terminals of that system when completed a generation ago lay in the midst of farms, vegetable gardens and suburban villa grounds, and the road ran for miles across wide areas of open country.

Now the region traversed by the "L" is solidly built up, and the comfort loving people are ready to move on, like the old pioneers who fled before the march of too much civilization to get "west." Thirty to forty miles travel a day to get to and from home and office or shop is a high price to pay for the mere satisfaction of being a metropolitan.

A story comes from Russia regarding the dramatic death of General Keller, killed in battle under General Kutropkin, which bears the stamp of mere romance, yet may be essentially true. The story is that General Keller, in order to shame the cowardly officers of his command into soldierly conduct, donned a conspicuous white uniform on going into his last battle and was an easy target for the enemy. On numerous occasions during the civil war officers arrayed themselves in conspicuous uniforms to encourage and animate their followers. An act of the kind may be free from bravado and signify that desperate situations call for desperate daring.

Is our big South American neighbor, the republic of Brazil, going backward? Just as nations not at war are talking of universal peace and Brazil's near neighbors, Chile and Argentina, are offering their navies for sale the Brazilians are planning a great naval armament. Perhaps it is significant that Brazil is getting a heavy influx of Germans and that this element wields a large influence.

An American correspondent with the Japs in Manchuria writes that the field hospitals are merely show places for foreigners. Everywhere there is callous indifference to the sufferings of the sick and wounded. The soldiers detailed to bring in the wounded are more interested in pillage than in saving their helpless comrades.

Now that Rockefeller has broken the ice and made one denial will he deny that he alone is responsible for the high price of oil? The public has its mind pretty well made up on that point, but it is only fair to give the accused a hearing.

Private advices from India announce the prospect of a serious famine in certain districts owing to a light rainfall. The Bombay Presidency and the region north and south of it for a stretch of 500 miles have had but little rain.

Japan's Industrial Future.

War inevitably changes the face of things, and nowhere is the change felt so keenly as in the nation that exerts itself prodigiously and to which war is a comparatively new experience. It seemed at one time that Japan would score a point with Russia quickly and be able to return to those peaceful activities which have been her ambition.

Now that her ruler predicts a long war and her energies are put to the utmost strain the future of the people is a subject of interest. The late Lafcadio Hearn was respected by the Japanese reviewers of his writings about their country as "a thorough master of the subject." His last book, "Japan: An Attempt at Interpretation," deals with the social and commercial problems confronting the Japanese, and he takes a gloomy view of her fitness to compete with western nations. He says:

Those who write today about the extraordinary capacity of the Japanese for organization and about the "democratic spirit" of the people as natural proof of their fitness for representative government in the western sense mistake appearances for realities. The truth is that the extraordinary capacity of the Japanese for communal organization is the strongest possible evidence of their unfitness for any modern democratic form of government. Superficially the difference between Japanese social organization and local self government in the modern American or the English colonial meaning of the term appears slight, and we may justly admire the perfect self discipline of a Japanese community. But the real difference between the two is fundamental, prodigious—measurable only by thousands of years. It is the difference between compulsory and free co-operation—the difference between the most despotic form of communism, founded upon the most ancient form of religion and the most highly evolved form of industrial union, with unlimited individual right of competition.

The time has not yet arrived, this observer declares, when Japan can safely cast away her whole past and achieve the results she envies in western peoples. There have been indications within the past ten years that European powers have feared that Japan might become a great factor in the east and form an alliance with some modern nation able to direct her destinies. Mr. Hearn suggests the danger of Japan's subordination to some stronger force, but rather through conquest than by an alliance. To him the domestic future of Japan is dark.

Born of that darkness an evil dream comes oftentimes to those who love Japan, the fear that all her efforts are being directed with desperate heroism only to prepare the land for the sojourn of peoples older by centuries in commercial experience; that her thousands of miles and forests, her arsenals and factories, her docks and fleets, are being put in order for the use of foreign capital; that her admirable army and her heroic navy may be doomed to make their last sacrifice in a hopeless contest against some combination of greedy states, provoked or encouraged to aggression by circumstances beyond the power of government control.

Just at present the suspicion finds lodgment in European minds that the United States will manipulate Japan's industrial future, not as the result of armed conquest, but somehow in the nature of a commercial guide, protector and partner.

The current year gives weather students food for speculation. The vagaries of the past twelve months upset some of the old axioms, especially that "an early winter means an early spring" and that "a cold winter means a warm summer." Cold set in early last year and was intense as well as prolonged. The summer was only moderately warm. It is said that cold, heat, rainfall and snow maintain an average year by year. If the sun has to keep up an average in heat distribution the coming winter should be moderate. At any rate, there ought to be a store of heat due to this globe, for its average has not been delivered.

A "hospital car" attached to each through passenger train, with attendants trained in giving first aid to the injured, is the device one great railroad adopts to reassure a timid public in these days of frequent accidents. For those who must travel by rail and for the friends left behind this plan has its good points. But people merely anticipating a pleasure trip may take second thought at sight of the ambulance attachment and stay at home.

Electricity has been successfully applied to farm work in France, and horses are being replaced by motors for thrashing, grinding, stump pulling and pumping water. Large landowners have their own motors, and the smaller ones club together and buy a motor, which travels from farm to farm, like the thrashing machine in this country or even the mower and reaper in its early days.

A scientist of the geological survey predicts that the waters of the great lakes will eventually reach the ocean by the Illinois and Mississippi rivers rather than through Niagara. But the change will be slow, 1,500 years for a continuous flow to set in in the new channel and 2,500 years before Niagara is out of business.

The United States consular service has often been compared discreditably with that of foreign countries, particularly England. Now a British writer asserts that the American consuls are better provided for their duties simpler and they perform better and more appreciated work than his majesty's consular officers.

DISAGREED

Did the Chicago Jury Which Tried Attorney O'Shea for Murder of His Wife.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—A disagreement was reported by the jury in the case of Victor B. O'Shea, a young attorney tried on a charge of wife murder. O'Shea killed his wife, Amy Hogen-son O'Shea, and attempted suicide, while insane, according to claims of the defense, the cause of his insanity being inability to earn a sufficient income and alleged attempts by the wife's parents to estrange her from him.

Oysters Caused Typhoid Fever. Wellington, Kan., Nov. 16.—E. B. Wimer, cashier of the Wellington National bank, is dead of typhoid fever as the result of eating oysters at his sister's wedding several weeks ago. Thirty other guests were made ill and several may not recover. Both the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Tapley May, are dangerously ill.

Germany's Demands. Constantinople, Nov. 16.—Germany has demanded the degradation of the officer and the punishment of the men concerned in the assault on Herr Eckhardt, the German consular agent at Urfa, who had been severely beaten by Turkish soldiers, and the payment of an indemnity.

Smallpox Epidemic Checked. Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16.—The University of Michigan health officials declared that the smallpox epidemic had passed the danger stage. Since the eighth mild case was discovered no more have appeared. Orders were given to open the gymnasium.

Due to Rockets. St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—A private letter from an officers of the Aurora expresses the opinion that the whole mistake of the Baltic fleet was due to the rockets fired by the fishing fleet.

FIFTY YEARS OF SUCCESS

Fifty years ago, an eminent specialist prescribed Father John's Medicine for the late Rev. Father O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., by whom it was recommended, and from whom it derived its name. It is not a patent medicine and is free from opium, morphine or poisonous drugs or weakening stimulants in any form such as the majority of patent preparations depend upon for their temporary effect, and which are dangerous. You are warned against them. It makes fresh and strength and builds up the body. Prevents pneumonia and consumption. Cures iron-chitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes," Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE RAILWAYS

ROADS ASKED TO UNITE IN PLAN FOR A MUSEUM.

Service Adopted by the Pennsy to Give Perfect Ventilation of Cars—Local Railway Budget.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—A permanent museum, showing the development of the railway industry of the country from the earliest days built around the exhibit of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, is the object of Major J. G. Pangborn, under whose direction the St. Louis exhibit was gathered together.

Other railroads besides the B. & O. have taken kindly to the lead of the oldest company in the United States and a building, entirely suitable, has been offered by the City of Philadelphia, so that the prospect of the scheme being carried to a successful conclusion seems bright.

Major Pangborn hopes to have the museum installed before the meeting of the international railway congress in Washington next May, so that it may be viewed by the hundreds of foreign railway men who may be drawn to this country to inspect the progressive methods of the American railroads.

The plan for a museum really dates back to the world's fair of Chicago. For this the Baltimore and Ohio road gathered an immense exhibit at great cost. This was preserved by the company and added to so that at the St. Louis fair it was probably twice its original size. Of the early locomotives used in America it includes Hedley's "Puffing Billy" of 1813, Stephenson's "Rocket," Hackworth's "Sans Pareil" and Foster & Rastick's "Agenoria" of 1829. Probably the only collection in the world which rivals it is that of the Northwestern railway of England.

Aside from originals there are models showing the development of the steam engine and the railway coach from Sir Isaac Newton's first conception to the 240-ton articulated locomotive of the present day.

Gives Perfect Ventilation.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has, after a period of experimentation, adopted a device for ventilating its passenger coaches which promises to do away not only with bad air, but also with the overheating and underheating of the cars—three evils from which every traveler has at some time or other suffered.

The description of the device indicates that there is nothing that is severely complex. Outside air is brought into the car through hoods covered with wire gauze to exclude cinders, passed through vertical downpipes to a space under the floor, whence it is driven into the heater boxes and warmed by the radiators. From the heater boxes the air passes into the car proper at points in the main aisles, performs its mission and is allowed to escape through the ventilators which are provided with the necessary suction to aid the circulation of air. When all the ventilators are open, 59,000 cubic feet of fresh air is provided per hour. In a day coach this would give each passenger approximately 1,000 cubic feet of fresh air, or fifteen complete changes of air every hour. In a Pullman sleeper, the amount per passenger would be much greater. There is also a method of compensating for the difference of conditions when the car is in motion and when it is not.

The tests on the Pennsylvania have been so satisfactory that several hundred cars have already been provided with the device. It all that is claimed for the system is true, its general adoption, it would seem, cannot long be delayed, for the things that it is said to accomplish are parts of a reform long needed.

Engine Exploded.

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 16.—One man was killed, one probably fatally injured and seven others seriously hurt in the explosion of a switch engine of the Southern railroad in that company's yards here. The dead: Albert Andrews, 25, car inspector. Fatally injured: John Branner, 35. Seriously injured: Fred Downey, engineer; Thomas McGraw, fireman; William Eubanks, foreman switching crew; John Wilson, car repairer; Joe Miller, car inspector. S. L. Bergon, switchman; John Kramer, car repairer. The engine and fireman were hurled through the cab windows by the force of the explosion, but escaped with less injuries than did the men who were on the ground beside the locomotive. What caused the explosion has not been definitely determined.

Sued For Franchise Tax.

Maysville, Ky., Nov. 16.—John J. O'Donnell, auditor's agent of Mason county, filed suit in the Mason county court against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company, J. P. Morgan and other stockholders to compel them to test for franchise taxation since 1892 the property of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, valued at over $600,000,000. The defendants being non-residents of the commonwealth attached the bonds of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway pending litigation.

Columbus at 1:35 a. m. (Pittsburgh time), and arrives at 7:20 a. m. Yesterday morning the train was 50 minutes late leaving Columbus. In addition to this incentive to make up the lost time, the crew was informed that a woman passenger for whom the train was to make an extra stop at Carnegie was endeavoring to reach the bedside of her father, who was critically ill. Engineer House took charge of the throttle at Columbus, and in the 100-mile run to Dennison he made up a considerable part of the delay. At Dennison Engineer Reno stepped into the right side of the cab, and by continuing the good work so well begun by his predecessor on the run, brought the train into Carnegie and Pittsburgh on time. Conductor A. L. Senst was in charge of the train, and although he does not know where his train brought the special passenger to her destination in time for her purpose, he and his engineers know that they did their best, and that their best will not be easily surpassed—Pittsburgh Post.

When I was first married I found that my strength and health were gradually diminishing. I became nervous and irritable, and was in bed a week and sometimes ten days of every month, and had intense bearing down pains. My husband had the best physician for me and I used his medicine for nearly four months, but I gradually grew worse, had less strength, and finally, I was unable to leave my bed at all.
A friend who was calling on me brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and was so loud in its praise that I told her that I would take it to please her.
I was surprised and pleased that before I had used the bottle I really felt better, so I kept on using it. Eight bottles brought back my lost health and strength, and I have not had a sick day in six months.

ON PUNISHMENT AFTER DEATH
BY REV. T. L. KIERNAN.

Advanced Views Expressed by Pastor of Plymouth Church in Sunday Discourse.

"Retribution or punishment after death," was the subject of an interesting discourse delivered at the Plymouth Congregational church Sunday night by the Rev. T. L. Kiernan.

Mr. Kiernan took some very advanced views upon this subject. He first spoke of the views held by the apostle James. They invariably preached a literal hell of actual fire and brimstone. The love of God seemed to be entirely ignored in their attempts at depicting the vengeance of God, and a literal hell.

Dante in his descriptions of hell and the condition of the wicked after death, re-echoes this idea of a literal hell. Milton in his great epic, "Paradise Lost and Regained," also gives the same coloring to the condition of the wicked after death. Coming down to later times, we have the learned theologian Jonathan Edwards, and later the great Spurgeon, following in the same trend of thought. Now while these great poets and theologians were undoubtedly sincere in their beliefs, yet in the light of modern study of the Bible, their views were very much distorted, and did not come up to the real and true conception of what the Bible really teaches. The Old Testament, from beginning to end, from Genesis to Malachi, never once mentions a future hell. It speaks entirely of the rewards men receive for their evil doing in the world. They receive the punishment in this life, not in the life to come. Then taking up the New Testament the speaker confines his remarks to the four Evangelists, and argues what is there stated in regard to future punishments. Christ always placed retribution or punishment after death in the back ground so to speak, and spoke of the love of God for sinners and His yearning to save them; rather than to be preaching the terrors of the law. While it is true Christ spoke of the dreadful consequences of sin unrepented of, still he did not try to place this in the foreground, as a means of winning souls. The speaker thought the word hell was misleading and should be expunged from the Bible and the word retribution substituted in its place. That there will be grades of punishment in the other world is plainly taught in the Bible. The idea of a literal hell of fire and brimstone is an abhorrent to all our ideas of a loving God, and is not held by any of the modern churches.

As an excuse for not attending church some will say you preacher fire and brimstone, and we don't believe it. You teach in your prayer book, and profess to believe it, when at heart you do not; you are a hypocrite, we will have none of it. In closing he touched upon the four views as now held by distinguished divines upon the subject.

First -- That all persons after undergoing a certain amount of punishment will eventually have an opportunity offered them to become reconciled to God.

Second -- That the good alone will receive eternal life; the bad, the opposite, eternal death or destruction--annihilation.

Third -- That from the argument from evolution, the survival of the fittest, the strong will survive where the weak will be destroyed.

Fourth -- The view taken by the late Canon Frier of the Church of England--that there is a possibility of the sinner being reconciled to God after death. That an opportunity may be given him then to become reconciled to God--referred to his work on "Eternal Hope."

He closed by saying that the Bible undoubtedly teaches that the wicked will be punished--what and where will be the nature of that punishment is known only to God. The speaker was very fair in his discussion of this subject, took a most conservative view and quoted at length from the New Testament to substantiate his position. C. P. K.

THE CHILDREN IN "WANG."

The children in "Wang"--the three little girls who sing nursery rhymes with De Wolf Hopper and Marguerite Clark, in the second act of the Shubert revival--can't understand why Miss Clark doesn't play with them only on the stage. The little actress is not much taller than the largest of the nursery trio, and has a childish face and figure. Both Miss Clark and Mr. Hopper skit with the "Wang" children in the nursery number--play with dolls and sing and dance in true childish fashion, but outside of this the pranks, so far as the star and his sonnette are concerned, do not hold forth. The children, of course, continue being children and are ever at childish pursuits, and while they do not trouble themselves about Mr. Hopper refusing to keep up the skylarking with them Miss Clark's conduct toward them between performances is a source of constant worry. On the trains she reads "grown up" books, does lace work and half a hundred other things and Mr. Hopper sits in the smoking compartment while the children are at their dolls and toys. They seldom see Hopper and wouldn't annoy him if they did, but Miss Clark is never free from their endeavors to get her to join them in their games. They won't believe she is not a little girl, and they can't understand why she affects books, newspapers, lace work, letter writing in place of dolls, toy houses and tin soldiers. The little lady is annoyed by these conditions, but Mr. Hopper and his sixty associate players the whole affair is decidedly novel and furnishes a constant source of amusement.

Auditorium, next Friday night, November 18.

DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE.

This attraction will be seen at the Auditorium on Thursday November 24. Matinee and night (Thanksgiving Day).

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINMENT.

The chief attraction at the opening concert of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course tomorrow night will be Dr. Carl Duff, the celebrated baritone.

The breadth and power of his magnificent voice, together with his rare gift of shading and expression makes his singing a sensation with music lovers everywhere.

He is supported by two other distinguished artists, Miss Elizabeth Blamer, a pure brilliant soprano, and a great favorite in New York, and Mr. W. C. E. See Boeck, the pianist. Mr. See Boeck occupies a high rank as a composer and as a pianist really deserves the prefix, "eminent."

Seats are being reserved today and tomorrow for this concert. The admission price is 50 cents, and this gives the choice of any seats left.

SEATS FOR WANG.
Seats that are laid away for Wang positively will not be held later than Thursday noon.

Herb W. Edwards Injured.
Herb W. Edwards of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter spraining his wrist and bruising his knee. "The next day," he says, "they were sore and stiff. I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared. I feel that his bottle of Pain Balm saved me several days' time. This liniment is for sale by all druggists."

POUND SOCIAL

Given in Honor of Rev. A. E. Johnson,
Former Pastor of Newark Methodist Church.

The many friends of Rev. A. E. Johnson, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church of Newark, now pastor of the church at Sawtelle, Cal., a suburb of Los Angeles, will read with interest the following taken from the Sawtelle Veteran-Enterprise:

An old-fashioned pound social was given at the Mission hall on Friday evening of last week by the hospitable members of the First Methodist church in honor of their pastor Rev. A. E. Johnson.

Many of the needful things of life were presented to the pastor and family with kindly words of appreciation, and the evening proved a happy one for both pastor and members of the church.

Following is an address read by Mrs. Elizabeth Grignon:

To Rev. A. E. Johnson and Family:
We take great pleasure in welcoming to our midst the present pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church here, Rev. Mr. Johnson, whose sermons have already borne fruit, to the glory of God in his Masters services. He declined a much more lucrative position to uplift the work here. In absence from tried and worthy friends in Ohio he has consented to help us, while trying to recuperate his own health in a more equable climate, and with his dear partner and children.

have made a helpful addition to our church and town.

We hope that many useful, happy days may be spent in Sawtelle by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and their dear children, and that God's blessing may rest in a bountiful measure upon them.

In conversion of sinners and welfare of all, may the work be blessed; may health be fully restored, if it be the Lord's will, and may many pleasant hours be spent in study and leisure here.

We ask you to accept a free will offering of some necessities of life, and hope that when work is all done in this world you may each receive a hearty welcome from Jesus, our mutual friend.

Signed in behalf of all: Mesdames Edith A. Pombert, S. H. Wyatt, Elizabeth Grignon, L. Buchanan, K. Galaher, Alice B. Tracy, Hattie E. Charles.

WEDDINGS.

FITZPATRICK-MURPHY.

Mr. Timothy Fitzpatrick, a valued employee of the B & O shops, and Miss Sadie Murphy, the estimable daughter of the late Peter Murphy, were married at the St. Francis de Sales church by Father O'Boylan at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of quite a number of the friends. Mr. John McGinley and Miss Amelia Egan were the attendants. At the conclusion of the ceremony congratulations of those present were showered on the happy couple, after which the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride on Chestnut street, where an elegant wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick leave on Wednesday evening for a trip to Sharon, Pa., where they will visit for a week or ten days, after which they will return and be "at home" to all their friends at their home on Chestnut street.

RODGERS-KIRKENDALL.

A pretty romance of several years' standing and which began when the bride and bridegroom were in the same office, she as a stenographer and he as a member of the firm, had its culmination Tuesday night at Columbus, in the marriage of Miss Olive Dell Kirkendall, daughter of Captain James Kirkendall, night officer of the state house, to Mr. Archibald Rodgers, the youngest son of Mr. A. D. Rodgers of East Broad street.

The bride has recently been employed in Colonel Curry's office in the state house. The marriage was a quiet one only the immediate families of the young couple being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Anderson at 6 o'clock at the bride's home, 91 King avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers left at midnight for a wedding trip to New York, after which they will be at home in Bryden place.

The above, clipped from the State Journal, will be of general interest in Newark and Licking county from the fact that Captain Kirkendall, the father of the bride formerly lived not far from Kinkersville station, this county, and his family is well known here.

Now Under Roof at the Immense Wehrle Foundry
--Work on Another Big Building Commenced-- Foundry Still Grows--Gas Well Being Drilled.

The Wehrle Foundry company, operating the biggest stove foundry in the world, is still increasing the capacity of its output.

Building after building has gone up at this company's immense plant in West Newark, so that it is coming to be taken as a matter of fact when work is started on a new structure. The company's pay roll is now over $55,000 a month and it is growing. Newark people are getting the benefit of it.

The latest building is one that has just been commenced which will measure 730 by 140 feet, making a total acreage of about 1 1/2, which is now under roof.

The new building will probably be used as a store room, although it is to be built so that if necessary it can be converted into a foundry. The new building will probably be used as a store house for sand and ladles, but the company has not yet decided upon the use to which it will be devoted.

The Wehrle company as represented by several of its officers wishes to speak officially through the Advocate. Other articles which have appeared in the columns of another paper have been unauthorized.

The company has purchased property, several blocks in fact, which it intends to hold for one purpose only, that no saloons can start business within close proximity of the factory. It is not the intention of the company to immediately utilize this property, but it will be held by the company in order to keep saloons away from the factory.

The gas well that is now being drilled on the Zartman farm has been sunk to a depth of over 1500 feet and is expected to be a good producer.

HUNTERS

BAGGED VERY FEW QUAIL ON OPENING DAY.

Dr. Wiyarch Holds the Record So Far as Heard From—He Got 18 Quail and 8 Rabbits.

The hunters of Newark who went out Tuesday to bag quail, unanimously report that game is very scarce. The birds were frozen last winter and hawks have decimated the numbers which escaped the frosts. Rabbits are not as plenty as in former years, but there is no such scarcity as in the feathered game. Sportsmen who returned home at the close of the first day's shooting brought very few birds.

Dr. Wiyarch, who with Mr. Ed Smith, went to the vicinity of St. Louisville on Tuesday returned home with eighteen quail and eight rabbits. Mr. Smith has not yet returned. Dr. Wiyarch is believed to hold the day's record.

Marion Baseball Franchise.
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 16.—The meeting of the Central Baseball league managers here resulted in the settlement of only one important question. The remainder of the time was devoted to a general discussion of league affairs. As expected, the Evansville franchise was returned to that city, it being sold to the recently organized stock company, composed of G. W. Belmont, Jr., John P. Walker and James E. Ryan. Contrary to expectations, no official action was taken regarding the transfer of the Marion, Ind., franchise to Springfield, O. W. A. Dugan, who controls the Marion franchise, made a strong plea for its retention.

SYNOPTIC

NAME OF NEW MAGAZINE PRINT-ED IN NEWARK.

Rev. B. M. O'Boylan, Pastor of the St.
Francis de Sales Church, Editor,
Mr. Broughton, Manager.

"The Synoptic" is the name of a new monthly magazine that is to be edited by the V. Rev. B. M. O'Boylan, of this city. Volume I, Number 1 having reached the Advocate's exchange table Wednesday morning, Mr. Walter Broughton is the business manager, and the policy of the magazine is outlined in the editor's salutatory, which is as follows:

"The Synoptic, as its name implies is intended to give a general view of things as they appear to the editor who, alone, will be responsible for its subject matter. It will arrange in pithy sentences the best of everything the editor has time to read or think outside of his professional duties and it will be always found to be on the side of justice, truth, liberty, and authority. It will be faithful to its friends and generous to foes, but unyielding as long as it stands on the side of truth and justice.

"It will not go with the majority if that be in the wrong, nor with any individual or body unless it be convinced that such are in the right. With a love for the good, the beautiful and the truth in all things, whether of the natural or supernatural order, its editor hopes to make it a welcome visitor in every home regardless of the religious opinions that may prevail therein."

Father O'Boylan is much interested in this new publication and will give it his best thought and attention. This means that each number will contain matter of interest to his many friends in this city and over the state.
